

The FAA Safety Team presents:

Can Aerobatics Change Your Attitude?

Event Details

Wed, Jul 25, 2012 - 5:00 pm

Vermont Flight Academy

3060 Williston Road

South Burlington, VT 05403

Contact: Doug Smith

(802) 863 5988

doug@vermontflightacademy.com

Select #: EA6545383

Airman JAMES W. LEAVITT

Attend this exclusive briefing and learn how basic aerobatic skills can prepare you for an unexpected "Upset". Loss of Control is one of the most common causes of aviation accidents. Are you prepared to react safely? This meeting begins with Doug's Bratwurst at 5 PM, and featured speaker Amy Corbett, the FAA's New England Region Administrator will provide attendees with an exclusive briefing on the NextGen Program. Then, Kathy Daily will share some important information on the value of aerobatic training and what it can do to increase your level of safety.

Directions: VT Flight Academy is located on the South side of the Burlington International Airport, in "The Valley", accessed from Williston Rd., bear left and pass behind the old alert hangers to the parking area.

A message from the National FAASafety Manager

Over 10,150 AMTs earned an AMT Award last year. Will you, this year?

Sign up for the FAA's safety services at www.FAASafety.gov!